WOMAN'S C. OF C. QUILTS FEDERATION OF CLUBS

Seventy Organizations Withdraw Because Work Is Hampered—No Ill Feeling.

The Woman's Chamber of Commerce, composed of 70 clubs in St. Louis, has withdrawn from the Missouri Federation of Women's Clubs, an action which had been under consideration since early in January, having been consummated Wednesday at a meeting of the Woman's Chamber of Commerce held in the Planters' Hotel. At that meeting nominations of officers for the coming year, to be voted upon in April, were also made.

It has been known for several weeks that the Woman's Chamber of Commerce had become dissatisfied with the prospect of remaining subordinate to the Eight District Missouri Federation of Women's Clubs, feeling that their own membership being much larger than that of the older body, it was not to their interests to continue as a member of the other organization.

Work of Chamber Hampered. It was urged that the work of the Woman's Chamber of Commerce was greatly hampered through being a member of the Federation since its work was purely local while that of the Federation was more of a State-wide nature and did not affect St. Louis women to the same degree.

According to the statement of women from both organizations today, there is no ill feeling between the two organizations, although officials of the Missouri Federation of Women's Clubs confess their regret at the action of the Woman's Chamber of Commerce, since it, of course, lessens numerically the strength of the Eighth District Federation.

Action was precipitated when the nominations for officers of the Woman's Chamber of Commerce were made known Wednesday and the names of Mrs. Fanny Bonner Price, now president, and Mrs. F. H. Littlefield, vice chairman of the Missouri Federation, appeared as rival candidates for president.

Mrs. Littlefield insisted at once that her name be withdrawn and some of her supporters from the Federation of Women's Clubs charged that the opposing forces of the Woman's Chamber of Commerce had felt that she would take this action but had placed her name in nomination in order only that the provision of the constitution of the organization requiring two tickets to be nominated, be fulfilled.

Names on Two Tickets. Names on the ticket headed by Mrs. Price were: Mrs. J. A. Goodwin, vice president; Mrs. Maurice Sternberg, recording secretary; Mrs. Hattie Hewitt, treasurer, and Mrs. James Hayward, auditor. The second ticket, headed by Mrs. Littlefield, bore the following names: Mrs. George Coleman, vice president; Mrs. E. G. Lasar, recording secretary; Mrs. J. M. Schumacher, treasurer, and Mrs. C. M. Kelly, auditor. Mrs. Schumacher stated yesterday that she was no longer a member of the Woman's Chamber of Commerce, the Forethought Club, of which she is a member, having withdrawn from that organization.

Some of those questioned today said there is a possibility that nominations may still be made from the floor in opposition to the ticket headed by Price, but this possibility is regarded as remote and the prospects are that the "administration ticket" will be elected without opposition.

Mrs. Littlefield said the split in the organizations had been pending for some time but that efforts had been made to prevent it. She retains her individual membership in the Chamber of Commerce organization but says that as her activities are largely confined to the work of the Missouri Federation of Women's Clubs she is not well informed as to the activities of the other body. It is generally understood that she is a candidate for the presidency of the Missouri Federation at the election next year, elections in that organization being held biennially.

$50,000 SUIT AGAINST POLICE COMMISSIONERS DISMISSED

Action Grew Out of Photographing and Measuring Woman After Arrest on Gambling Charge.

The $50,000 damage suit of Mrs. Elizabeth Campbell, 6311 North Drive, against the Board of Police Commissioners, including Mayor Kiel, who is an ex-officio member, growing out of her arrest, Nov. 14, 1917, on a charge of conducting a gambling game at her former home, 605 North Newstead avenue, was dismissed at her request in the Circuit Court yesterday.

Mrs. Campbell's suit was based on the fact that she was photographed and measured for the Bureau of Identification at police headquarters following her arrest. She alleged that after her acquittal in court on the gambling charge she made repeated demands to have the photograph and measurement records destroyed but to no avail.

In moving the dismissal of the suit Mrs. Campbell's attorney, John B. Dempsey, said that his client had an affidavit from John Shea, Superintendent of the Bureau of Identification, that the records had been destroyed. The suit was based on the contention that the statutes provide for the photographing and measuring of prisoners only after they have been convicted of a felony.

U. R. MOTORMAN WINS ON APPEAL

Police Court Fine of $15 Against W. E. Boaz Dismissed.

William E. Boaz of 5815 Delmar boulevard, a motorman on the Delmar line, who was fined $15 in Police Court on Nov. 28 for disturbing the peace of James L. McNichol, traffic manager for the Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co., at Goodfellow avenue and Delmar boulevard in 1918, was discharged on appeal in the Court of Criminal Correction yesterday.

The trouble began when McNichol's automobile stalled in front of Boaz's car. McNichol admitted having a revolver on Boaz in a barrel which ensued when Boaz and her car men started to push the machine aside, but said Boaz had provoked him with an epithet. Judge ruled McNichol was justified and charged him on a cross charge of disturbance. The defense endeavored to show that the revolver had been drawn before Boaz cursed McNichol.

"OH, LETS DON'T"

People With Thin, Pale Blood Are Listless and Want to Do Little

MORE RED BLOOD CELLS NEEDED

Take Pepto-Mangan, Famous Tonic, and "Let's Go" Instead of "Let's Don't"

When normally healthy, ambitious people begin to lack energy and tire easily—when they are quickly discouraged and low in vitality, it usually means their blood has grown weak. Such people are called anemic, or run-down. Build up the blood and build up the health and spirits. Pepto-Mangan is a pleasant-tasting blood builder, and it contains exactly the elements which poor, pale blood needs to become rich, red blood. Red blood means rosy cheeks, bright eyes, a clear brain, a firm step. Pepto-Mangan has placed thousands of people who needed building up in the blood, energetic, vigorous class, changes the "let's don't" attitude to a "let's go" attitude. Recommended by physicians for thirty years and sold all over the world. Pepto-Mangan is sold in both liquid and tablet form. Both contain the same medicinal ingredients. Buy Pepto-Mangan at your drug store. Be sure the name "Gude's" is on the package. Without "Gude's" is not Pepto-Mangan.

FORMER CAPTAIN SAYS BONUS WOULD BE WASTE

Tells House Committee Satisfaction of Fighting Was Ample Reward for Soldiers.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—Flat opposition to financial relief legislation for former service men, the first to be expressed by a former soldier, was asserted today before the House Ways and Means Committee by Walter W. Burns of Green Point, N. Y., a former artillery captain. A "money handout" to the ex-service men, he said, "would simply be thrown away."

Practically no former soldiers or sailors are without employment, Burns said, adding that most of them do not know the effect the payment of a bonus would have. Outstanding Government obligations would depreciate if a bond issue was authorized, Burns said.

All soldiers would take a money grant if Congress authorized it, he told the committee. Representative Rainey, Democrat, of Illinois, replied that this was true even of members of Congress. "Who talk and vote against salaries and mileage allotments, but assents to take the money."

Burns contended that the satisfaction of having fought to defend the country was sufficient award.

"If the war had continued two weeks longer every American soldier would have been so tickled he wouldn't want any bonus," he added. Representative Garner, Democrat, of Texas, said not a former service man in his district had written in favor of the proposed financial relief.

"They don't know you are in Congress then," a representative of a soldier organization, seated in the room, interjected.

Even the American Legion is divided on the question, Burns said, adding that he was a member of that organization and had talked with many others opposed to the legion's plans. Those who need a bonus would squander it and those who don't need it would put it in a bank, he argued.

Reclamation of all lands in the West and South with preferential right to all former service men to secure on existing drained public lands was urged by a delegation headed by Representative Smith, Republican, of Idaho.

More than 150,000 men have already benefited, their desire for homesteads but are without financial means to obtain them, George R. Maxwell of St. Louis, told the committee. "That is an infinitesimal part of the four million," Representative Hawley, Republican, of Washington, interposed.

"And when a man has money he wants to get out of the cities, but when he is busted he can't go to the farms," Chairman Forney, said. Benefits to soldiers under land grant bills would be far better than any bonus or financial aid, Maxwell said.

PROHIBITION PLAYS HAVOC IN RANKS OF FAT MEN'S CLUB

Members Lose So Much Weight That Name Is Changed to "Living Skeletons."

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 5.—The Fat Men's Club of Mechanicsburg, O., has changed its name to the Mechanicsburg Living Skeletons. The effects of prohibition have been discussed loud and long, but now they have been positively proved, for according to Ann R. Milton of Mechanicsburg, who is at the Park Avenue Hotel, prohibition has brought down the combined weight of the eight members of the club from a ton and 31 pounds a year ago to a bare 167 pounds the day before he came to New York. But for the fact that one member has been a total abstainer for years, the loss would have been terrific, Milton says. This member gained eight pounds during the year.

"Our club was organized eight years ago with the provision that no member could weigh less than 240 pounds," said Milton.

"There were seven charter members. Beer was the only liquid served at all formal and informal functions, and I might say that informal function occurred more or less every day. Two years ago we took in our new hardware dealer, who was just two pounds over the limit, although he never drank anything but coffee and water."

"In November we saw the trend of our weights and we abolished the 240-pound limit. In February a year ago our respective weights were 245, 268, 267, 251, 255, 263 and 260. Today they are 237, 243, 250, 241, 249, 216 and 241. Our greatest individual loss was 25 pounds. Our hardware member is now our heaviest man and we have just elected him president."

REPORT OF COHEN CASE MADE TO WASHINGTON

Higgs Sends Recommendation and Grocery Firm Is Denied Injunction in Sugar Case.

Counsel for the L. Cohen Grocery Co., 1018 North Seventh street, applied unsuccessfully this afternoon to Federal Judge Farris for permission to file an injunction suit to restrain Vance J. Higgs, special assistant to the Attorney-General, from recommending to the Attorney-General that the company's license to sell sugar be revoked by the Food Administration, the powers of which the Attorney-General now exercises.

Judge Farris refused to permit the filing of the injunction suit, after Higgs stated that he had already forwarded a report to the Attorney-General, making a recommendation in the matter.

The judge said the company might file an injunction suit in equity, which would be heard in due time, but that no restraining order would be issued in the meantime. The judge said the Lever food control act, in his opinion, was constitutional as a war measure, and that an injunction would not be issued to prevent acts done in the regular course of its application.

Higgs had summoned the company to show cause, in a hearing this morning, why he should not recommend the revocation of the license. The company's counsel, Louis B. Sher and Chester H. Krum, appeared at the time set for the hearing, and announced that they would not take part in the hearing, and would apply for an injunction.

Higgs then at once made out his report and put it in the mail. He has not made its contents known. It is understood that about 80 percent of the Cohen firm's business is in the sale of sugar.

District Judge Farris, last week, ordered the dismissal of a prosecution brought against the Cohen firm on an indictment charging it with making an unjust and unreasonable charge for sugar. The judge held that an amendment to the Lever food control act, which was the basis of the prosecution, was unconstitutional. In order to test this question in the higher courts, Higgs caused the indictment of the company, under the same clause of the Lever act. The company has not indicated its course in this case.

'STAR-SPANGLED BANNER' SONG AT ROBERT EMMET MEETING

Hall Crowded for Observance of Birthdays of Friends of Irish Freedom.

The 142d anniversary of the birth of Robert Emmet was observed last night by an audience that crowded St. Mark's Hall, Academy avenue and Page boulevard.

The celebration was under auspices of the St. Louis Council of the Friends of Irish Freedom. The speakers were Dr. Robert Emmet Kane, the Rev. Father P. J. O'Rourke, the Rev. Father Joseph English, Charles J. Dolan, an attorney, who formerly represented an Irish district in the English Parliament, and Jack Ryan.

Ryan did not devote his time to stories, but gave expression to his feeling of the righteousness of the Irish cause, declaring the Sinn Fein translated to English meant 100 percent Americanism. The audience sang "The Star Spangled Banner" to close the meeting.

BANK EMPLOYEES FORBIDDEN TO WED IF EARNING LESS THAN $125

CHICAGO, March 5.—A book of rules for employees of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, circulated today, says "no male employee receiving less than $125 a month salary will be permitted to marry while in the service of this bank without first taking the matter up with the chief clerk."

"The sum set in the book is the minimum on which an employee can risk a matrimonial venture," declared C. R. McKay, vice-governor of the bank, who added that the rule was "imperative."

"The bank officials believe that is the least sum on which two may live in these days," he said.

JACK DEMPSEY GIVES BOND

He and Kearns Will Appear in Court at San Francisco March 20.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 5.—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion of the world, and his manager, Jack Kearns, yesterday furnished $1500 bonds each before a United States Commissioner here to appear in the United States District Court in San Francisco March 20 to plead to an indictment charging them with conspiracy to evade the selective draft law.

Warrants were served upon Dempsey and Kearns in the Commissioner's room by a Deputy United States Marshal. The attorney for the accused men waived a hearing on their behalf.

FIRST TRIP TO EAST ST. LOUIS

Oliver Abel, an optometrist, of 6810 Waterman avenue, a resident of St. Louis 25 years, made his first trip to East St. Louis Monday night. In a letter to Chief of Police Mulhern, received this morning, Abel signifies he would like to pay a return visit, and asks the chief to recover some articles stolen from his automobile, as an incentive for a second visit.

Abel says he attended a lodge meeting in the Odd Fellows' Building, Seventh street and St. Louis avenue, and while he was there some person stole gloves, tools and other articles from his car.

Announcement GROUP INSURANCE

The Bond of Mutual Interest

Group Insurance, hardly known ten years ago, has in that brief period proved itself the greatest single forward stride in the progress of the industrial relations of employers and employees.

Today over one million men and women are insured under Group Insurance policies for more than one billion dollars, and every added dollar of Group Insurance has meant a new bond of mutual interest between the employer and his employees, and an improvement in employment conditions in general.

The Missouri State Life Insurance Company, modern, conservative, fast-growing, now offers the insuring public the most efficient advice and service possible for handling this line of insurance.

Already several of St. Louis' leading institutions have taken advantage of this new service and have bought Group Insurance with the Missouri State Life.

Business concerns which contemplate insuring their employees on the group plan will find it to their advantage to consult with us.

ROPER TO RETIRE APRIL 19
 Secretary Houston to Recommend Successor Next Week.
 WASHINGTON, March 5.—Daniel C. Roper, commissioner of internal revenue, will retire from office April 19. He called the members of his staff together last night and informed them that he expected his resignation to become effective on that date which will be after the many problems incident to the collection of the first installment of 1919 taxes have been largely met.

 There was no indication as to the identity of his successor although it was understood that Secretary Houston would make a recommendation to the President next week. It was regarded as certain that the job of collecting the nation's revenue would not go to any man now in the bureau.

MINISTER'S NOTE TO WOMAN CAUSES ROW

Mother of Former Choir Singer Complains About Pastor to First Christian Church Board.

A note written by the Rev. C.
 Emerson Miller, 44 years old and married, pastor of the First Christian Church, Delmar boulevard and Pendleton avenue, to a young woman who was formerly a member of the church and a singer in the choir, has caused the young woman's mother to make complaint to the official board of the church. As a result of the incident, several persons, including at least four members of the official board, have withdrawn either from membership or from active participation in the church's affairs.

The mother's complaint, which has been made to various members of the official board in the last three months, was presented to the board as a whole, at its monthly meeting last Tuesday night.

The note was not shown, having been destroyed in a family discussion which arose from it. Members of the board say the mother took exceptions to the note.

The young woman, when questioned by the board, said the note was only a plea that she should return to the church, she having ceased to attend after a quarrel with another member of the choir.
 The minister said that the young woman's version of the matter was correct.

Board Member Accused.
 In the discussion at the board meeting C. H. Brown of 4141 Mc-Pherson avenue, one of the board members, was accused by the minister of having been the author of derogatory reports about him. The minister also blamed members of Brown's family for the reports, and when he mentioned the family, Brown advanced toward him, declaring, "You can't drag my family into this." Others present restrained Brown from a physical encounter with the minister.

The pastor, in speaking to a Post-Dispatch reporter of the complaint against him, said it was "inspired by a group of cranks," and said there were 10 or 12 persons in the church whom he would be "glad to get rid of," as they were disrupting the church. He said he believed the attacks on him were inspired by friends of Mrs. R. Ayars of 5210 Washington boulevard, former president of the Mothers' and Babies' Home, who was dismissed as teacher of a Sunday school class several weeks ago, and who has left the church.

Pastor Came From Maryland.
 Miller came here 13 months ago from Maryland. He lives at 4432 Washington boulevard. His wife, who is older than he, has a daughter by a former marriage, and a grandchild, living in Kansas City.
 At the board meeting Tuesday night, Walter H. Barnes, manager of the title department of the St.
 Louis County Trust Co., presided.
 John Smithers of 4388 Delmar boulevard announced that the young woman's mother wished to appear before the board, and she was admitted. She then told her story of the note. In the meantime, two members of the board had gone after the daughter, who, it was learned, was at a residence not far from the church.

The pastor spoke after the mother. He demanded that the reference to Brown and his family, which aroused Brown's indignation, Brown followed with a talk attacking the pastor, and the young woman was then heard.

Moves for Resignation.
 Smithers then made a motion that the pastor's resignation be requested.
 There was no second to the resolution, and Barnes, as chairman, declared that as no formal charges had been filed, and as the statement of the ministers and the young woman was plausible, she should be considered closed. As the official board of each congregation is the highest body in the church, the mother's complaint is not likely to go further.

About 40 members of the church are said to have withdrawn, or to have become inactive, since the matter of the pastor's note first began to be talked about. Among them are Dr. J. D. Hayward, a member of the board, and Mrs. Hayward, who was church organist;
 Mrs. Ayars, Brown and Smithers and their families, Walter Holloway, a member of the board, and Mrs. W.
 E. Morgan of 5056 Minerva avenue.

OLD ENGLISH REMEDY FOR CATARRH OF THE EAR, NOSE AND THROAT

If you know of someone who is troubled with Catarrh of the Ear, Nose and Throat, or ordinary colds, cut out this formula and hand it to them and yet may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer from total deafness. In England scientists for a long time past have recognized that catarrh is a constitutional disease and necessarily requires constitutional treatment.

Sprays, inhalers and nose douches are liable to irritate the delicate air passages and force the disease into the middie ear, which frequently means total deafness, or else the disease may be driven down the air passages towards the lungs, which is equally as dangerous. The following formula, which is used extensively in the damp English climate, is a constitutional treatment and should prove especially efficacious to sufferers here who live under more favorable climate conditions.

Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Farnist (double strength). Take this home and add to it 1/4 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from distressing head noises.

Closed nostrils should open, breathing become easy and hearing improve as the inflammation in the eustachian tubes is reduced. Farnist used in this way actually uses the blood and mucous surfaces of the system and has a tonic action that helps to obtain the desired results. The preparation is easy to make, cost little and is pleasant to take.

Every person who has catarrh or head noises or is hard of hearing should give this treatment a trial.

Lectures to Mothers on Expert Care of Children

Coal Smoke Pernicious, Says Dr. Veeder—"No Place Worse Than Efficiency Apartment for Rearing a Child."

By MARGUERITE MARTYN.
The first of a series of lectures to be given each Thursday at the Community School by physicians upon the physical life of the child, Dr. Veeder, yesterday, before a group of mothers elaborated upon the salient points which follow. Dr. Veeder was Major of Hospital Unit 31 of Washington University overseas during the war.

There can be no arbitrary standard of measurement of children since each child reflects the physical aspects of its parents," he said. "As a general thing a child will grow eight inches the first year, increasing from two or three inches each year up to the age of 11. At this age girls will start upward, outstripping the boys until about the fifteenth year, when the boys will overtake the girls and continue to exceed them. Malnutrition is rarely due to too little food, but rather to faulty selection and preparation of food. Require Much Food.

"It is a mistake to assume that a child will not eat as much as an adult. A child will nearly always require as much food as the female adult and growing boy will require more than the adult male. It has been determined that the adult male consumes ordinarily 40 calories per hour, while the growing boy needs 10 calories. This is due to the fact that the child does a tremendous amount of work. There are those who think a child does not work and should be required to work after school. Let the adult try to imitate all the movements of a child if he believes this. He will find that he may have greater capacity for sustained effort but the child exercises more violently for the time being. Many children are allowed to exercise too violently while growing, which tends to weaken and cause them to break down during the college years.

"One of the most pernicious influences upon the child in St. Louis is the tremendous amount of soft coal smoke, which causes infection of nose and throat to become chronic. The child under 6 should always have a place to play out of doors. Best of all, a sand pile. The mechanical devices, such as swings, are very good. Exercise is always better if taken unconsciously, therefore play is better than calisthenics. Reflects Environment.

"A child reflects absolutely the environment in which he is reared and no school can correct the faults of this environment. If a child comes from a home in which there is turmoil, excitement, bickering, he will be a nervous child. A great fault in the modern system of living is that it imposes too long waking hours and allows not enough rest to the child. A child under six should sleep 12 hours out of 24. Up to the age of eight he should take a nap every day after the noonday meal. This rule can easily be enforced by accustoming the child to the habit and letting nothing interfere with the regime. Toys and distractions should not be given to him while including sleep.

"An apartment house is no place in which to bring up a child. An infant may exist in one of those places but not a child which has reached the walking age since much of its time should be spent out of doors. There is no place worse than the efficiency apartment in which to rear a child.

"Personally, I believe no child should be placed in school before the age of eight, due to the intense standardization unavoidable in the classroom. The child which has been free up to eight years will quickly overtake the child of 11 who has been sent to school at the standard age. As it is, the school is too often a dumping ground where parents place their children in order to be rid of their care.

"As to clothing, there is no rule of guidance except common sense and weather conditions. Above all, clothing should be worn unconsciously. You should never need to say, 'Johnny, you can't go out bicycling today because you have on your blue suit.' The fundamental purpose of clothing is protection, not looks.

"It is in my opinion barbarous to let a child go with bare knees in cold weather. Underclothing of mixture of cotton and wool is preferable to all wool because more porous. Shoes should be fitted by means of impressions taken of the feet in lamp black. Flat feet should be early attended to by means of corrective exercises and building up the shoes inside.

The Missouri, Kansas and Texas Lines have been "mustered out." The necessities which influenced operation of the railroad by the Government have been met. With pride in its contributions to the Nation's need during the war emergency, the Katy has resumed its peacetime relationship to the Southwest, with adequate and efficient transportation service to the developing industrial and commercial needs of Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas as its primary responsibility.

It is the ambition of the M. K. & T. management to discharge this responsibility fully, and to merit public confidence, co-operation and good will. With these purposes in view, the railroad's obligation of service to the public will be kept consistently in mind.

Since 1914 there has been a steady increase in the volume of traffic which the M. K. & T. Lines have been called upon to handle. Conditions have been such that there could not be a corresponding increase in the railroad's transportation capacity. Enlargement of our transportation capacity is therefore essential to the restoration of pre-war service and standards. It is our purpose to restore such service and standards as speedily as possible, and in this purpose we shall value public friendship, co-operation and support.

The Southwest is entering upon a new era of development. In this development the M. K. & T. desires to aid in every way practicable.

To these ends the M. K. & T. management earnestly solicits the helpful suggestions of its patrons, public officials and commercial organizations in the communities which it serves.

Rules for Bathing.
"As to bathing, a child should take a bath of 95 degrees not more than once a week. A daily bath of 85 or 90 degrees may be taken. Children with rheumatism or eczema should be merely sponged and splashed, not immersed.

"A lot of rot and drivel is being disseminated under the guise of sex education. This subject preferably should be left to parents to be imparted about the fifteenth year, though first instruction may come by means of biology upon broad lines. False ideas are worse than perfect frankness when the child becomes inquisitive.

"Nothing is more pathetic than the single child in a family. It misses companionship and competition necessary to its development becomes introspective and self-centered.

"I do not see why children should have directed play. In the country children are left to their own resources and do not suffer for want of amusement, but gain initiative and resourcefulness.

Several women questioned the doctor upon his assertion that children should be left to the unskilled mother up to the age of 8 rather than placed under trained guidance.

There was applause upon the one hand and dissenting glances upon the other when the doctor alluded to the prevailing fashion of bare knees among children.

Perhaps the speaker did not in some of his advice take into account the system of individual attention prevailing at this school, although he might well have intended the admonition against bare knees to apply here, since many of the children upon the playground outside earlier in the day had been wearing short hose.

Impressions gained by an inspection of the school while in session may show wherein the little pupils of this school are more fortunate than those of some other schools.

Character of School.
The Community School is situated at the edge of the county, on Wydown boulevard, in that residential neighborhood which has grown up south of Washington University, parts of which neighborhood are so restricted by property owners as to be accessible only to the homes of the wealthy. Attendance at the school is limited to 15 pupils in each of the six grades, including kindergarten. The school is supported co-operatively by an association of patrons with a board of directors elected from among them, hence the term "community."

Many novelties in education have been put into effect here by teachers who have specialized in the conduct of community schools as a cult in Boston and other centers of culture. The success of the venture is attested by the fact that the capacity of the school has recently been doubled over its original of four years ago. The school building is conspicuous for its many windows, its walls making the utmost use of light and air.

Many novelties in education have been put into effect here by teachers who have specialized in the conduct of community schools as a cult in Boston and other centers of culture. The success of the venture is attested by the fact that the capacity of the school has recently been doubled over its original of four years ago. TEN BOYS ADMIT STRIPPING EMPTY FLATS OF WOODEN WORK

Arrests Are Made After Doors and Windows Are Found Missing From Structures on Dolman Street.

Ten boys, ranging in age from 9 to 12 years, were taken into custody by the police yesterday when it was learned that most of the wooden work of a row of empty flats at 1708-14 Dolman street had been carried away in the last three weeks.

Police say the boys admitted taking off the doors to sell, and the window casings and flooring to be used as kindling wood, which they either took to their homes or sold for small amounts. The damage was estimated at about $2000.

MAY KEEP LIQUOR IN MORE THAN ONE HOME

But Resident Can't Move It From One to Other or Take It Into Bone Dry State.

By the Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—A great deal of misinformation has been circulated regarding the right, or otherwise, of the owner of a private liquor stock to move it from his permanent residence to his summer residence, or vice versa. The fact is that he may not legally take liquor from one to the other.

Prohibition Commissioner Kramer outlined for the Post-Dispatch the rulings of the Internal Revenue Bureau on this subject. The law provides that if a person possessed legally acquired liquor in his home on Jan. 18 he may keep it there. Under one of the rulings of the bureau, he may keep such liquor in two homes, without permit, provided each is a bona fide residence.

Must Remain Where It Is. But he is not permitted to take liquor from one home to the other. This is true whether he would move it to a home in the same State or in some other State, and true also whether the State to which he would take it was formerly dry, like Kansas, or formerly wet, like New Jersey.

A widely published report that the bureau would permit the moving of liquor from a permanent to a summer home grew out of a misinterpretation of a ruling which does permit a person to keep his liquor with him if he permanently changes his abode. That is to say, if a man sells out in Missouri he may take his private stock with him, like any of the rest of his household goods. To do this he must get a permit from the Prohibition Commissioner of his State.

But even here there is an exception. While a permit would be issued to a mover to take liquor into Rhode Island or New Jersey or any other formerly wet state, if he changes his bona fide residence to that State, he may not take it under any circumstances into a formerly dry state.

Due to Bone Dry Law. This exception is due to the Reed bone-dry law, which forbids the importation of liquor into any state whose laws prohibit its manufacture and sale, and which, contrary to the opinion of some authorities, Kramer holds is still in operation.

Another point on which the bureau has ruled in response to many inquiries, relates to the storage of liquor in clubs. If a person's bona fide home is within a clubhouse, he may keep his liquor in a club locker, but this privilege does not extend to members who reside elsewhere.

HIGHWAYMEN SPARE MAN WITH BANDAGE OVER EYE

A bandage worn over a sore eye by Charles Taylor, 50 years old, who gave his address as the Liberty Hotel, 4257 Delmar boulevard, saved his pocketbook from two highwaymen who stopped him near Pendleton avenue and Delmar boulevard last night.

The highwaymen were searching him when one happened to notice the bandage.

"Say, let's let this fellow go. He's in bad shape," he remarked to his companion. The two told Taylor to "go on home," and did not take anything from him.

LOST LAURENS PORTRAIT FOUND

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, March 5.—A long lost portrait of Henry Laurens, who was president of the American Congress in 1777 and 1778 and one of the leaders in the American revolution, recently was discovered in a country house at Clonmel, Ireland, near Tipperary, according to the London Times. The portrait was painted by John Singleton Copley, a noted Anglo-American painter, who was born in Boston, Mass., in 1771.

The portrait of Laurens, says the newspaper, was purchased in the United States.

Henry Laurens was born in Charleston, S. C., in 1724 and died there in December, 1792. He was appointed peace commissioner to Paris in 1782.

FAMILY DRIVEN OUT BY FIRE

Perry Nolan, his wife and three children were driven from their home, 3200 Byrne avenue, at 4:20 o'clock this morning when fire starting from a defective fire lamp ignited the house. They took refuge in the home of a neighbor.

The building was a two-story frame and virtually was destroyed. The loss was estimated at $3500. Members of the family were awakened by smelling smoke.

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND THE FLU

First Step in Treatment Is Brisk Purgative With Calomel, the Purified and Refined Calomel Tablets That Are Nausealess, Safe and Sure.

Doctors have found by experience that no medicine for colds and influenza can be depended upon for full effectiveness until the liver is made thoroughly active. That is why the first step in the treatment is the use of a powerful cathartic called Calomel, and which are free from the debilitating and weakening effects of the old style calomel. Doctors also point out the fact that an active liver can go a long way toward preventing influenza and is one of the most important factors in enabling the patient to successfully withstand an attack and ward off pneumonia.

One Calomel on the tongue at bedtime, with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with your eating, pleasure or work. No more. If your cold has vanished, your liver active, your system is purified, and you are feeling fine, with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Druggists sell Calomel only in original sealed packages, price 35c. Your money will be cheerfully refunded if you do not find them delightful.

SOCIETY INTERESTED IN "PARADISE LOST"

Demand for Boxes for Tuesday Night's Performance at Odeon Exceeds the Supply.

ONE of the most interesting ever next week will be the performance of "Paradise Lost" by the St. Louis Paganet Choral Society, at the Odeon, Tuesday evening. A large audience will attend, many coming from out-of-town.

The demand for boxes has far exceeded the supply and many persons who had planned to give box parties have been obliged to take blocks of seats in the parqu岸 and entertain their friends there. Among those who will have parties in the boxes and parqu岸 are: Mr. and Mrs. L. Guy Blackmer, Mr. and Mrs. August A. Busch, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Cunliff, Col. and Mrs. Dwight Davis, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Davis, Ambassador and Mrs. D. R. Francis, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Fischer, Dr. Ewald Granel, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Gundlach, Mrs. Marcus Harris, Mrs. Kate M. Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Howard, Mrs. William L. Hase, Mrs. S. C. Hermann, Mrs. Oscar Johnson, Mrs. Clay E. Jordan, Hugo A. Koehler, Mr. and Mrs. George D. Markham, Mrs. Isaac W. Morton, Mr. and Mrs. Ottmar Moll, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Parker, Mrs. Summeyer, Max Zach, Father, J. J. Tannan, Mr. and Mrs. Melville L. Wilkinson, Mrs. Howard Watson, Mrs. George Gellhorn and Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Crunden.

Tuesday night's performance will be the third production of "Paradise Lost" ever given in America. Conductor Frederick Fischer has spared no pains to bring his big chorus up to the highest degree of perfection and now is rehearsing with the Symphony Orchestra. He also has engaged the most eminent grand opera stars available to sing the solo parts.

A number of parties will come from St. Charles, Alton, Belleville and other nearby towns.

The women's committee of the Paganet Choral Society, which comprises Mrs. Nelson Cunliff, Mrs. G. D. McFarland, Mrs. Lizzie Drey, Mrs. Ottmar Moll, Mrs. Clay Jordan and Mrs. Herman W. Faber, is largely responsible for the active interest in the performance. This concert will close the season for the Paganet Choral Society although the organization will make a number of other appearances informally.

Miss Edna Niedringhaus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Niedringhaus of 6022 Westminster place, has chosen Saturday, March 27, as the date for her marriage to Frederick Gr. Jr. of Chicago. The ceremony will be performed at the home of the bride's parents and there will be no attendants.

Miss Charlotte Vaden of Richmond, Va., is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Branch F. Spencer, 5826 Waterman avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Spencer gave a dinner dance for 25 young people in honor of Miss Vaden last evening and several informal affairs are being planned for her next week.

Mrs. George T. Devereux of 5115 Page boulevard entertained with a miscellaneous shower Monday evening, March 1 in honor of Miss Hazel Howlett, daughter of Mrs. T. W. Howlett of 2631 Washington avenue. Those present were Misses Mary Cassilly, Agnes Robinson, Jessie Bain, May Lengnick, Florence Belser, Gertrude Smith, Alice Fiedler, Hope Heisterberg, Aumeler, Carrie, Louise and Garcia Van Hoogstrate; Misses Charles Gleesman, T. W. Howlett and J. B. Van Hoogstrate.

The marriage of Miss Louise Nugent, daughter of 4319 Lindell boulevard, and Henry Carlisle Burthe of Pasadena, Cal., formerly of St. Louis, will be quietly solemnized at the home of the bride's mother April 7. Mr. Burthe is the son of the late Mrs. Charles Benedict, formerly Miss Zoe Papin.

Mrs. Edward Gill Sherburne and her young son, who have been the guests of Mrs. Sherburne's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Brashear, 6754 Vernon avenue, have returned to their home in Washington, D. C.

Mrs. J. B. Winningham of Atlanta, Ga., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Given Moore of the Anderson apartments.

Cornelia Greene Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will hold a "White Elephant Sale" at the home of Mrs. John Trigg Moss, 6017 Enright avenue, tomorrow afternoon, from 3 until 5 o'clock. The proceeds will be used by the Chapter for patriotic and philanthropic work.

$4629 DIAMONDS TAKEN BY CUSTOMER IN STORE

Forty Unset Stones Stolen From Drosten's by Man Who Examined Stock.

It was learned today that diamonds valued at $4629, including a pair of earrings valued at $275, were stolen last Saturday afternoon from the stock of the Drosten Jewelry Co., 909 Olive street, by a well-dressed man who pretended that he wanted to purchase a pair of earrings for his wife. The police, in reporting the theft Saturday night, stated that only a pair of earrings valued at $550 had been taken.
E. J. Foursine, manager of the company, said today that in addition to the earrings the thief got 40 unset diamonds of the following description: One valued at $288, two valued at $849.60, another valued at $425.50, one at $275, one at $260 and 34 smaller stones valued at $2158.80. He said the police were told when the theft was discovered that the total loss was about $5000.

The thief operated under the eyes of a salesman and so cleverly that the diamonds were not missed until after his departure. He was waited upon by E. W. Bornmueller, head of the diamond department. He asked to be shown some diamond earrings and said that he wanted to pay between $200 and $300.
After inspecting the contents of a tray that was placed before him on the showcase, he said he would like to see some loose stones. Bornmueller took him into the diamond room, a small compartment in the front part of the store. Several packages of diamonds were placed on a table for his inspection. Bornmueller's back was turned only once, and then only for a few seconds, when he reached into the display window for more stones.

After looking over the stock the visitor said that he believed he would let his wife make her own selection and left the store. As Bornmueller was replacing the packages he discovered that many diamonds were missing.

Later when Bornmueller returned to the earring counter he discovered that a pair of earrings were missing from the tray which he had shown to the prospective customer.

In describing the man to the police Bornmueller said that he appeared to be between 24 and 30 years old and that he wore a furcollared overcoat, light fedora hat, brown tight-fitting suit and kid gloves. When he removed one of his gloves to inspect the stock it was noted that his fingers were cigarette stained.

A reward of $500 for the recovery of the diamonds was offered today by an insurance company which had insured the Drosten stock against theft.

BILLION DOLLAR REDUCTION IN TAXES FAVORED BY M'ADOO

Present Burden Is too Great and Injurious to Business, Former Secretary of Treasury Says.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 5.—An immediate billion-dollar reduction in Federal taxes was suggested in a statement issued by William G. Mc-Adoo, former Secretary of the Treasury, yesterday. The present tax burden is too great, he said, and is "having an injurious effect on business."

McAdoo proposed that collection of a tax to establish a sinking fund for retirement of the war debt, which was recommended by former Secretary Glass to begin with the fiscal year, 1920, be postponed for two years, and that the deferred payments of European interest be funded until Europe is in a position to pay its interest charges.

"The financial policies of the nation as embodied in future congressional legislation," said McAdoo,
"should realize the utmost economy in expenditure and might well fund in long term bonds $1,000,000,000 per annum for two years of the amount now raised by taxation."
"Under the laws a tax to establish a 1-per-cent sinking fund to retire bonds now outstanding is to be collected beginning with the fiscal year 1920."

U. R. CARMEN ASK FOR 20 TO 25 CENTS AN HOUR WAGE RAISE

Proposed Schedule Presented to Receiver Wells Who Has Until June to Consider It.

A schedule of proposed wage increases for United Railway conductors and motormen was presented to Receiver Rolla Wells yesterday by H. M. Nelson and J. P. O'Connor, president and secretary respectively of Local No. 788 of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees.

The proposed schedule provides for 75 cents an hour for the first six months of employment; 80 cents an hour for the next six months and 85 cents an hour for all motormen and conductors in the company's employment for more than a year. The present scale ranges from 50 to 60 cents an hour, according to length of service.

Similar increases were demanded for helpers on pits, oilers, welders and switch repair men. A wage of 87 cents an hour was asked for men in charge of whistles, armature pits and brake pits. Controller repair men, "trouble" men, air men, trolley men, car body repairers, and men in charge of drill presses or armature bearings demand 90 cents an hour.

An eight-hour day for all employees was included in the demands, with a request that time and one-half be paid for overtime. The conductors and motormen seek continuous eight-hour runs and the other employees demand that they be allowed to complete their work in nine consecutive hours.

Hippodrome Show "Happy Days". See American Magazine for March.

ROBBERS PUT 3 MEN IN ICE BOX AND ROB SALOON

Proprietor Knocked Down When He Says He Has no "Cigar Box of Soft Money."

Three armed men, wearing black masks over the lower parts of their faces, walked into the saloon of Alex. Stecz, 301 Sidney street, at 9:15 p.m. last night, and interrupted a game of pool between Stecz and two customers.

They made the three get into the icebox, after which they looked the proprietor over and took $63 from the cash register and a pistol from a drawer. Then they held a conference, went to the icebox and ordered Stecz out and shut it again.

"What kind of a game are you trying to play on us?" the leader of the trio asked Stecz. "You're holding out. Where's that cigar box?"

"What cigar box?" asked Stecz. "The one with the soft money in it. The one you keep under cover," the robber replied.

Stecz insisted the money in the cash register was all he possessed. The men knocked him down, hit him on the head several times and again repeated their questions. When Stecz maintained ignorance of the cigar box, they kicked him several times and ran out.

After releasing the two customers from the icebox, Stecz called a doctor and had three scalp wounds and several cuts on his face dressed. He told the police the men were aided in escaping by a fourth man whom he could see seated in an automobile outside. They drove west in Sidney street.

FOR four years Hall Caine's pen has been laid aside, while he has devoted himself to the service of his country. For four years hundreds of thousands of readers have waited impatiently for a new novel from the author of "The Manxman," "The Deemster," and "The Woman Thou Gavest Me."

The Dead-Line of Sedition

"It ought to be a simple matter," an Indiana editor remarks, "to mark and brand the real seditionist." But it is not a simple matter apparently for Congressmen to devise a measure which will satisfy at once those who fear that our institutions will be overthrown by seditious propaganda, and those afraid they will be undermined by interference with civil liberties. In order to help Congress find out what kind of legislation the people really want, if any, we have asked a large number of newspaper editors to set down the provisions they think a sedition act ought to contain.

THE LITERARY DIGEST for March 6th presents these opinions, and taken as a whole, gives a constructive basis upon which to build. While the Dayton News believes that "public meetings where the Government of the United States is attacked and insulted should be stopt everywhere and those who persist in traitorous activities should be jailed, fined, or deported, as the case deserves," the Kansas City Star declares that "additional legislation is more dangerous than soap-box oratory or foolish publications." Running between these two extreme viewpoints, the article in THE LITERARY DIGEST reflects a wide field of public opinion.

Karo

blue Can*

Don't worry about the high price of jams, jellies and preserves. Serve Karo, the Great American Sweet. Buy it by the dozen cans.
An important message. Read it!

AMONG the twenty odd million American Homes there is probably not a single one where Karo is not served in some manner—for breakfast, for dinner or for supper.

During these days of high prices, Karo has become another word for economy. Thousands of thoughtful housewives have learned that Blue Label Karo is not only a delicious spread for pancakes, but answers every purpose where a sweet is needed.

Instead of paying the present high prices for jams, jellies and preserves—serve Blue Label Karo on sliced bread, toast, pancakes or waffles.

Do as the wise cooks are now doing: Use Karo to stew dried fruit, prunes; use it for candied sweet potatoes, brown bread, muffins, coffee cake and puddings.

Karo Home-made Candy is the best for children. It is wholesome, easy to make, costs much less than store candy.

Mothers give children Blue Label Karo and sliced bread because it satisfies Nature's craving for sweets and takes the place of candy.

IMPORTANT

There never was such a demand for Blue Label Karo as today. Housewives everywhere are buying it by the dozen cans. Ask your grocer the price per dozen. For economy's sake buy it this way.

Stedman Says New York Assemblymen Had Right to Interpret Constitutional Oath as They Understood It.

REVOLUTION PARTY
AIM, STATE CHARGES

Prosecution, in Summing Up in Trial, Declares One Object Is to Make Country Defenseless.

By the Associated Press.
ALBANY, N. Y., March 5.—Discussing the legal phases of the proceedings in the New York State Assembly against the five Socialist members charged with disloyalty, Seymour Stedman of their counsel today declared that "each public officer who takes an oath to support the Constitution swears that he will support it as he understands it and not as it is understood by others." They "had sworn to support the Constitution, not as it is understood by Speaker Sweet, not as it is understood by this Assembly, but as each Assemblyman understood it for himself," he said.

Contending that this is not a new view of the constitutional oath, Stedman quoted from a statement made by Andrew Jackson in 1832, and also from the works of Charles Sumner, to show that they interpreted the constitutional oath according to their own judgment, as did "these five Socialist Assemblymen."

Rights of Socialists.
Socialists were within their rights in opposing the world war before America's entrance, Stedman contended, as well as after the United States entered it. "They had a right to sign any statement that it will not enlist," he said.

"The Socialists," he continued, "in no statement, in no act, in no suggestion this has been brought before this committee are either charged or intimated to have been in league with or in hope of the triumphant success of the imperial autocrats of the Central Powers."

It is understood that the committee will adjourn after today's session until next Tuesday, when the final argument for the prosecution will be presented by Elton R. Brown, former State Senator.

"Unlawful Methods" Summed Up.
"The Socialist party of America," Cobboy declared, "is preparing for and attempting to bring about a revolution in this country as part of the international social revolution by the following unlawful methods:

"First, it has opposed and obstructed and continues to oppose and obstruct the Government of the United States and of this State in all measures relating to the national and State defense. Its purpose in doing is a manifest one: to weaken and leave defenseless the Government of State and nation against the attacks of foreign and domestic enemies and thus deprive it of the right of self-preservation, which is admittedly the first law of government as it is of individuals."

"Second, it has advocated and incited the destruction of the existing Government of the United States by illegal mass action."

"Third, while professing to utilize political action, it constantly denies that existing evils or defects may be remedied by such action, and insists that such political action must be supplemented by violence and mass action, which it advocates both directly and by insinuation and suggestion."

"Methods and Tactics."
"Fourth, the political action of the party is responsible only to the dues-paying membership. Those who are elected to office are bound to follow the dictates of such membership and their complete complicity in that political action must be supplemented by violence and mass action, which it advocates both directly and by insinuation and suggestion."

"Fifth, these methods and tactics are prescribed for the members of the party and as an integral part of the party's principles and program, by a great international body. In the employment of each and all of these methods, the Socialist party of America is in harmony and accord with the radical revolutionary Socialists in all the countries of the world."

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that I will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes, always oppose public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Sale of Firearms.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
Now that the city is going to be President and "N. J. M." Mayor, I want to be something bigger. I want to be big enough to demand to know why our laws pertaining to the sale and carrying of firearms and other dangerous weapons are not rigidly enforced. I want to be big enough to say, eliminate every firearm and dangerous weapon from the market except on a proper license for purchase issued by the city and confine the sale of same through one responsible source. I want to be big enough to demand of our public safety officials the reason why the ruthless holding up of citizens on the streets, robbing of business places and the forcible entering of homes cannot be stopped. If they say there are not enough police, I want to say put on more. If there are not the right kind, get the right kind. If the pay is not sufficient to make them interested, increase it; then demand action. I want to say to our big business organizations whom we weak-minded citizens look to as the guardians of our community, your duty is plain. Arise, throw off the yoke of indifference. Set aside personal interest a moment and act. No better advertisement could possibly accrue to St. Louis than to show the world that the good people are bigger than any gang of "crooks" and that this city is no health resort for the crime germ. To go on as we are is a travesty. To think we cannot walk the streets in daylight with safety, cannot conduct our business with any feeling of security and, worst of all, cannot feel secure in our own homes, which are being invaded daily. There is a remedy. Apply it. Big men, the youth of the land went to the front and did their duty, now show them that ours can be done at home. A. W. S.

Women's Hotels and Wages.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
Why all of this clamor about hotels for working women? If the well-meaning people who are soliciting funds for this enterprise could induce the employers of women to pay an adequate wage, we working women would not be dependent upon their charity. Men have unions to protect them. Why not women? ONE WHO IS TRYING TO LIVE ON $12 A WEEK.

What Wilson Brought Back.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
I have just read the letter on "Why Lansing Was Canned," and I note with some surprise that all Wilson brought back from Europe was a few shiploads of presents.
I take it that in this cargo of presents was a first mortgage on Europe, a pledge of good will that any big firm of exporters would lend money on, a scroll indicating the Americanization of European diplomacy, a written prophecy of Tora, Clementine's fall, and a covenant that will split the Republican party into more opposing factions than will be necessary to defeat it at the next election.
The worth of these things is a much-mooted question, but the thought occurs to me that the reason Wilson's following is so large and varied is that he usually "brings home the bacon." Congress is a noisy place, but they say you can hear a pin drop when the "showboat" enters.

Telephone Service.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
No need of any lengthy complaint. Please just ask the public to get together and demand some kind of satisfactory service from the Bell Telephone Co. The service has never been what it should, and has recently gone from bad to worse.
As an example, I called seven different numbers this morning and was given the "busy signal" for such line. This may have been the case, of course, but I'll admit it was rather odd—that all seven should be busy just when I tried to call. I don't know where the operator got her information, for later, when I finally succeeded in speaking to three of these parties—and all on direct lines—they told me they positively had not been using their phones. Another case: Before getting one of the numbers I had asked for I was connected with five different parties—all wrong numbers. Even the chief operator didn't help in this instance, as she also connected me with the wrong number. Now, is there any excuse for this comedy of errors? Mistakes will happen, we all admit, but there is such a thing as reaching the limit, and I think the Bell Telephone Co. has about done it.

Build Homes Free.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
I think the widening of North Twelfth street at this time a great injustice to the tenement people of our city. There are some 170 houses to be wrecked, which means about 350 tenants who will have to look for other places to move when there are no vacant houses to be found. See Sunday papers, where people are willing to pay $10 to $25 for information in regard to houses and flats. I am not against improvements to our city, but I think this is not the proper time to do them, when the people can't find homes who will have to move. W. C. H.

YOUNG ST. LOUIS IN ACTION.

There was a meeting at the Planters Hotel last night which had tremendous significance for the future of St. Louis.

Two thousand young men met to start the drive of the Junior Chamber of Commerce for a membership of 4500. This is the initial objective, but in the purpose of these young business men is a greater goal. They intend at this drive to exceed the 5000 membership of the Chamber of Commerce and later to bring into the organization all the young business men of St. Louis.

The present drive is planned for two weeks. The present membership is 1200 and the membership goal calls for hard, well-directed, energetic work, but no one who has observed the growth of the organization of the Junior Chamber doubts the ability of its members, with reasonable support and co-operation from their elders, to reach the goal.

The inception and growth of this organization is full of interest and significance to all St. Louisans—to all men who are looking to the future of the city, the State and the nation. The idea was born in St. Louis. The first Junior Chamber was organized here. The idea was taken up by the young men of other cities and on the initiative of the St. Louis Juniors a conference of representatives met in St. Louis last January and organized a National Junior Chamber of Commerce, with a membership of about 150 organizations and 35,000 individuals.

The object of the organization is civic. It is designed primarily to train young men in civic organization and to co-operate with other organizations in promoting the growth, the progress and the welfare of the city; in working for ends that will promote the growth, welfare and prosperity of the people.

The value of such an organization is twofold. It is an excellent training for the young men in organization and in organized work. It teaches them how to organize and co-operate for common ends and to direct and make effective organized co-operative work in achieving useful and desirable objects in business and civic life. It gives them the benefit of wide acquaintance among business men and of beneficial fellowship with others having common aspirations and purposes. It gives them understanding of public questions.

The other value—the value of the organization to the city—cannot be measured. It organizes dynamic forces of the highest potentiality for public service. The influence of the young men of the city, organized and wisely directed for public service, cannot easily be weighed in advance, nor can the results of their organized efforts to achieve useful and desirable business ends be measured in advance. We know that the organization has boundless possibilities.

It ought not to be necessary to bespeak from the elders of the city, who are profoundly interested in the welfare of the young men, cordial support and organization. It ought not to be necessary to point out to employers the benefits of the organization to the young men in their employ or to enlist their co-operation. The acquaintance, the training, the knowledge of public questions which membership in the organization offers the young men will make them better business men, better citizens, better men. It ought not to be necessary to ask the public to encourage such an organization for public service.

The organization must be wisely directed to attain its greatest usefulness. It must eschew personal and party politics; it must use politics only as a means to the public good; it must use parties only as instrumentalities for beneficial public ends. It must be devoted wholly to the promotion of sound policies and measures which work for the public welfare. We have confidence that these young men will govern wisely their organization. They will learn how to use it as it should be used.

The young men who founded the Junior Chamber and are striving to enlarge and strengthen their organization are the boys who enlisted for the war and helped win the war. They are now enlisted for the work of peace. Their thought and their purpose is public service. It is to build the city beautiful, the city great, the city progressive and the city prosperous. With their energy and enthusiasm back of St. Louis, the dreams, the so-called "illusions" of Greater St. Louis, will be turned into realities.

Young St. Louis to the front.

Hiram Johnson thinks a lot of money is being spent in that South Dakota primary. But Hiram would have to think in much larger denominations if he should ever get into a yacht race with Michigan's valiant Commodore.

LAWRENCE, MASS., AND H. C. L.
Lawrence, Mass., again commands attention—this time in happy contrast with much of its previous notoriety. An effort to reduce the cost of living seems to be remarkably successful. The enterprise is called a co-operative department store. It is managed by W. M. Wood, head of the American Woolen Co., for the benefit of the company's 15,000 factory hands.

The store has been in operation five weeks. In that time an incredible reduction in the prices of food and clothing has resulted. To mention only a few examples, women's suits that were selling for from $50 to $55 may now be had for $25. Men's suits, formerly from $50 to $65, are now quoted at from $18 to $25. Canned goods, such as tomatoes, beans and peas, have dropped from 30 to 11 cents. The public is not permitted to trade at this store, which is strictly a family affair of the Woolen company. But the public is sharing in the profits since prices in the other Lawrence stores have come down.

The Lawrence experiment may not offer evidence sufficient to warrant an adverse judgment upon current prices generally. There may be special circumstances, too—though it is difficult to imagine what they are—which make the Lawrence enterprise a special success that could not elsewhere be duplicated.

But when all such concessions are allowed it seems a fair conclusion that this experiment does put upon dealers generally the burden of proving that prevailing prices are just.

THE NEW PAY FOR OUR TEACHERS.

The increased revenue coming to the School Board next year by reason of the higher tax rate authorized last November is placed at $1,250,000.

The increase in salaries for the 2643 teachers and 124 other employees provided for in Supt. Withers' schedule amounts to $1,235,042. For any increase in the number of teachers made necessary by city growth there will be accordingly available a surplus of nearly $15,000, besides any excess in extra revenue over the estimate.

Mr. Withers in his recommendation plays fair with the voters by assigning virtually all the proceeds of the extra tax to the teachers and employees. He plays fair with the teachers by giving them ample notice as to what they can expect for next year and enabling them to make their plans accordingly. For this reason prompt action on the schedule should also be taken by the Committee on Instruction and the full board.

A gratifying thing is that no teacher will be asked to fill any position in the St. Louis schools hereafter for less than $100 a month for the full 12 months, or, of course, $120 monthly for the school year of 10 months. Increases are figured on the salary scale prevailing in October, 1918. As is fitting, the largest percentages of increase go to the elementary teachers, those in the kindergarten receiving 39 per cent more and grade teachers 35 per cent. The maximum for these teachers is $2100 and for their principals $4000.

The minimum for high school teachers is $1600 and the maximum $3200, with $5000 for principals. Competent men and women be obtained in these times for less? By reason of the smaller relative increase for persons now drawing the higher salaries, the average percentage figures out 30.3, whereas the teachers had asked for a flat increase of 33 per cent.

For the working force, on whom success depends, the schedule proposes the highest pay now given anywhere in the country and should be approved. In only two other cities are higher salaries paid a few principals and executives.

ST. LOUIS' HOTEL NEEDS.

The shortage in local hotel accommodations has continued for so long a time and has involved so much of inconvenience that few St. Louisans can remain in ignorance of this handicap. The St. Louis Convention and Publicity Bureau gives definite expression to the extent of the shortage in a statement that 2000 more hotel rooms than we have at present are needed to make the supply equal to the demand. Neither in construction already undertaken nor in the projected addition to the Hotel Jefferson will more than a part of this deficit be made up.

As an obstruction to advance this lack is not to be minimized. Measures for filling the need must be taken before its effects become more serious, for the demand is likely to show further increase. Reasonably adequate accommodations where the stranger may easily find shelter and be made comfortable at less than profiteering rates are a valuable city asset.

Lenine and Trotsky admit that reconstruction will be their hardest test. By studying the record of the Sixty-sixth Congress they can learn everything about how not to reconstruct.

THE VALLEY'S BLIZZARD.

The storm sweeping down from the north across the Mississippi Valley is greeted with frowns of disapproval by city folks, but the farmer, toasting his toes before the glowing logs, looks out contentedly upon the whirl of white. Though not exactly bonedry, the winter has been far below the moisture par. This snow will help to rectify the record.

It is a great fertilizer, delivered where most needed, absolutely free of charge. The city man may audit the blizzard in terms of various inconvenience, from steaming street cars to soaking shoes. The farmer reckons it in additional bushels of wheat and corn, more bales of cotton, a richer growth of alfalfa. He beholds a livelier iris on the burnished turkey, sleeker-coated cattle, hogs of vaster displacement, of more impressive embonpoint.

The city folks, too, of the Mississippi Valley might exercise a little philosophy in their attitude towards the blizzard. They might ponder the fate of those unfortunate who do not live in the valley. New England, for example, has been tunneling its mittened, ear-muffled way through the hardest winter it has known in 80 years. It shivers today beneath a six-foot icing of tenacious snow, upon which the feeble rays of New England's senile sun beat in vain.

It is conceded, of course, that the storm is inexorably late. For weeks the spirit of spring has been hovering near. There has been an April tint to the skies, the mocking laughter of May in the air, and certain robins that have not yet attained the age of discretion have been observed by our dear and highly esteemed liars. It may be a bit disappointing to see all those charming signs and happy omens routed by the white rage of a northern gale, but when we compare our conservative winter with the brand allotted the descendants of the Pilgrim Fathers, there's nothing for our ouija board to do but burst forth in gladsome song.

THE NURSE: I WISH SHE'D GET WELL—OR SOMETHING.

MR. ANTWINE'S OPINION.

THE average United States District Court will be running with three shifts of Judges and a full head of steam 24 hours in a day before very long," Mr. Antwine said.

"As one centralizing act after another begins to contribute to Federal Court dockets, we see these one-time places of rest and reflection become the throbbing clearing houses of a thousand and one national laws.

"Prohibition alone will keep the Federal Courts busy; when we look beyond the incoming horde of those whose business or breath smells of liquor, we are appalled by the shadow of that even greater host of those who are to do that, if we are to have again the cheer of a drink all around and quit trying to get dinners started on dead batteries. The wets have been the fog, and their leaders have been the foghorns which kept the dries from colliding.

There is one point with respect to prohibition which is doubtless well made, but making it does not hold out very much promise of waking up to find ourselves free to do as we will. That is the claim that whereas the politicians are for prohibition, the people are probably against it. That this avails us anything is doubtful. The people were for the league of nations, but see what the politicians have done? The people we have with us always, but the politicians come and go. They have to step around carefully. They would much rather be wet than dry, we suspect. The thing for the wets to do is to figure out how they may be wet and still be politicians. The truth is that only the dries have done any thinking up to this time. The dries are true that the dries put prohibition over with money. The other side had the money. They put it over opposing matter with mind, exactly as Mr. Antwine and the rest of our two-story thinkers do. It is an easy conquest. It is like leaning against a fog. The wets must learn to do that, if we are to have again the cheer of a drink all around and quit trying to get dinners started on dead batteries. The wets have been the fog, and their leaders have been the foghorns which kept the dries from colliding.

The MIRROR OF PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to reproduce without bias the latest comment by the leading publicists, newspapers and periodicals on the questions of the day.

EUROPE'S INSOLVENCY.

MARK O. PRENTISS in the Nation.
WE are already heavily involved in Europe. The world owes us as a nation $12,000,000,000 of notice loans, and it is estimated that additional obligations held by our industrial, financial and commercial men amount to at least another $8,000,000,000. Our manufacturers have many sales abroad on the exchange of foreign countries, and hold acceptances, or have drawn on foreign purchasers; and they have sold the drafts and acceptances to banks which in turn have discounted them under the Federal Reserve system. This paper has been renewed, and renewed, and renewed again, and is falling due at the end of the month. At an already depreciated exchange of 30 per cent to 60 per cent. Immense quantities of American merchandise have been sent abroad, principally to Europe, on consignment, or placed in warehouses throughout the world, subject to order. Such consignments probably total $2,000,000,000. One wonders who will happen to our industry when it is called upon to make good at discounted rates of exchange the enormous amount covered by unpaid foreign drafts. The world is sitting upon a potential volcano that may begin its eruption at any time, with the result that the entire financial structure of the world, as we have grown accustomed to it, may be destroyed. That we in the United States are intensely, yes, vitally, interested in the situation is obvious. We cannot expect the only prosperous nation in a world of bankruptcies. Our duty, therefore, is to help the other countries help themselves. All economists agree that there is but one solution now: more production, and the reduction of expenditures.

CHINA'S LITERARY REVOLUTION.

JOHN NEWBY in the New Republic.
WHAT is termed the literary revolution in China aims at a reform of the language used in books, magazines, newspapers and public discussion. The outsider will jump to the conclusion that this means an attempt to encourage a Phoenician substitute for ideographic characters. Not at all. There is a movement to supplement ideographs with phonetic signs to show their pronunciation, the aim being quite as much to standardize pronunciation as to make it easier to learn to read. But this movement arouses no such interest and excitement as the literary revolution. The latter is an attempt to make the spoken language the standard language for print. Literary Chinese is as far away from the vernacular as Latin is from English, perhaps further. It is the speech of 2000 years ago, adorned and frozen. The aim is to learn another language. The reformers were actuated by the practical impossibility of making education really universal when in addition to the difficulties of mastering the ideographs, children in the elementary schools are compelled to get their education in terms of a foreign language.

HAWAIIAN STATEHOOD.

From the Christian Science Monitor.
Consideration of the desire of Hawaii to be admitted as a state in the North American Union involves much more than the pleasantly vague impression which most Americans have of a tropical island, pineapples and sunshine. If Congress depended upon mere impression, doubtless the islands would be admitted in a trice. They would constitute the first of the United States outside the continent. Their population includes, however, not only the Hawaiians themselves, as well as the Americans and Europeans, but a constantly increasing percentage of the Japanese. Probably this element will require even more earnest consideration than did the Mexicans in New Mexico or the Indians in Oklahoma. Hawaii is entitled to expect just what is right for itself and for the country.

Women Kill Their Chances of Marrying by Trying to Affect the Extreme Dress Styles?

Woman Expert in Fabrics and Materials Declares That the Simple Dress of Good Materials Is Preferable to the Low Price Gowns of Extreme Styles.

By Fay Stevenson.

SO often the old question of whether women should wear standard clothes arises. And the women themselves always answer the query with a loud NO. Now, however, Columbus, O., has raised the question again on the basis of solving the H. C. of L. Only a few days ago resolutions favoring the standardization of dress for business women to combat the high cost of living were adopted by the board of directors of the National Woman's Association of Commerce. That put a new angle on the question.

But would the business woman cut prices by donning a standardized form of dress? I asked Mrs. H. Edwards Payee, editor of the fabric section of The American Cloak and Suit Review, and an expert on women's clothes and materials.

"Even if it would reduce the H. C. of L. as far as your wardrobe is concerned it can't be done," laughed Mrs. Payee. "Do you suppose that women are going around in derby hats or at least a standardized hat which would correspond to a man's hat, in coats all cut on the same pattern and skirts which are all the same pattern? Never! And you will notice that I said 'even if it would reduce a woman's expense' in her wardrobe, but it wouldn't."

The war and women's uniforms saved this. Every woman who wore a uniform had her tailor dress her in a little individual cut for her. Women had a creative, individual style.

"But I do believe this in regard to women's clothes," continued Mrs. Payee, who is an expert in fabrics and materials, "that women should standardize in this way—buy better materials. Too much attention is paid to style and too little to material. Excellent wools, soft silks and glossy velvets are worth while regardless of what one pays a yard for them, because they last. It would give me great pleasure to see the business woman pay less attention to the cut of her gown and more to the material."

The woman who has a gown made of the best material and cut in becoming, individual style, avoiding all ultra designs and latest fads, depends less in the long run and always looks well dressed," declared Mrs. Payee.

"But possibly one reason the photographer likes to have so many stylish clothes rather than one or two dresses made of more expensive materials is that she really has a secret desire to marry," I suggested. "Many women have complained about the way their photographer sisters dress during business hours, claiming that a suit and skirt are all that is essential, while the gowns and fancy frocks should be kept for parties and social affairs. It just happens in a good many cases that these girls don't lead a social life at all. Many of them are out of town girls, others are far out in the suburbs and the only chance they have to dress or perhaps annex a husband is right during their business hours."

"Yes, I understand that side of the question, but do they attract the 'right' kind of men?" asked Mrs. Payee. "I have often wondered if a girl has not killed her opportunities to wed by trying to be stylish. My advice to the business girl is to buy the best material in the market, have a gown or a coat made a sensible, becoming style and wear it until it is shabby. Some of the best dressed women I have ever known follow this plan. Better buy a coat which cost $75 and wear it

Reflections of a Bachelor Girl

By HELEN ROWLAND.

MAN is as old as his arteries—a woman is as old as her chin (s). Finesse in love, for a man, consists in knowing the psychological moment to take the first kiss; for a woman, in knowing when the psychological moment has arrived for the last kiss.

Dear me. It would be much cheaper for most of us to migrate to Dahomey, than to keep on buying our clothes by the carat!

The disappointing thing about teaching a girl the art of love-making is that she so quickly outgrows the average man's kindergarten knowledge and can give him a higher education on the subject.

A man is never really old until he has lost his last desire for the food that makes him dyspeptic, the pleasures that make him poor, and the women who make a fool of him.

Just like the vanity of a woman, to marry a man to reform himself—though any man who has had the energy and initiative to make a "past" for himself, is going to stand neckily back and let a woman carve out his future for him!

Just like the conceit of men to call a woman's vanity case her "vamping utensils"—when as every girl knows, it's nothing but an innocent little "repair kit!"

The day of the sentimental love-song and the dreamy waltz may have passed—but it's hard on romance to think that today's daughters will grow up to regard a cowbell as a musical instrument and a wiggle as a "dance."

Most girls seem to think that a platinum wedding ring makes a happy marriage; purple paint a good motor car; temperament a genius, and capriciousness a belle.

the strained vegetable and the water, strain the milk, salt and pepper, and reheat. Melt the butter, rub the flour into it, and stir into the soup, stirring constantly until the soup is thoroughly done and smooth. Serve with croutons. Make the croutons by buttering half-inch slices of bread, cutting into small squares and browning them evenly in the oven.

The general method applies to all vegetable cream soups except those made with a very acid vegetable such as tomatoes, in which the acid curdles the milk unless a small quantity of baking soda is added to neutralize it. In such a soup the milk and flour should not be combined with the vegetable until just before serving, when the soda should be added to the vegetable mixture in well, and then the two liquids should be combined and served at once.

FASHION NOTES.

THE Orient is still the favorite source of inspiration for evening gowns.

Paris combines hip draperies with the short, narrow skirt in pleasing ways.

Bone buttons and black Hercules are still a favorite trimmings for tailored suits.

Ruffles, large and small, are being used to a great extent this season.

Many of the latest blouses are combinations of two shades of color.

La Mode Nouvelle in Paris

Special Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch.

PARIS, Feb. 18.

SPRING collections of Paris fashion leaders are bringing us "La mode nouvelle." Numerous were the buyers from every part of the world and especially from America.

The skirt is still narrow and short for the tailored costumes. But a little longer and with a little more fullness than in the past season, for street and evening frocks.

Every house had its collection according to their taste and style. One is convinced that woman this season will wear what she likes, and what will suit her best.

Street frocks are often seen in serge or in woolen material, trimmed with embroidered silk braid or embroidered bead braid and a long waist line. Effect of plaits and gatherings are much seen and very suitable for these little frocks. To complete this, a cape or a short, straight coat to match the dress is worn.

Evening dresses are still very low necked, especially in the back, and without sleeves or with little bits of sleeves made in lace. Simple shoulder straps, made of beads or stones, hold up the bodice. Embroidered tulle with beads and broche continue to make very beautiful evening dresses. Douillet, one of Paris' fashion leaders, has presented a smart dress, just a tight-fitting black satin with flying panels of black Chantilly lace. The bodice is of silver cloth, cut lengthways, held up on the shoulder by a stitch, covering the under arm but leaving the upper arm uncovered. The long waistline is accentuated by an embroidered black satin ribbon two inches wide, embroidered with bright flowers.

In the way of coats, the cape is still much in favor. Many silk evening dresses have a little short cape of the same material, with gathered frilling as trimming fixed a few inches above the bottom of the cape and around the armholes which make little bits of sleeves.

In the tailor costumes the short jacket triumphs but some are medium length, without belt, slightly outlining the long waist. Embroideries as trimming often come lower at the back, making the waist look still longer.

ACTIVITIES OF WOMEN

—Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt in a recent lecture, said: "If women ever own 51 per cent of the wealth of the country, it will no longer be a man's world in which we live with man made laws, ethics, ideals and policies."

—Mother's pension laws, designed in part to make it possible for widowed mothers to give their children an education, are now in force in 35 states, Alaska and Hawaii.

CHEESE DISHES

Economical, Wholesome, Delicious.

CHEESE is a valuable but little appreciated dairy product. It contains more protein than lean meat and nearly twice as much as eggs, and has more value than either in building muscle, bone and blood. If served with carbohydrate foods like bread, crackers or rice, and fruits are given a place on the menu instead of heavier foods, cheese is as easily digested as any other protein food and there is really no reason why it should not be used quite often to vary the family bill of fare.

The recipes suggested below are all delicious and will be found to add materially in cutting down the meat and egg bills.

Cheese and Potato Croquettes.

Mix one cup cottage cheese, two tablespoons chopped parsley and one rounding teaspoon chopped green pepper. Season with salt, a dash of cayenne and paprika and add one-fourth teaspoon soda. Form into small rolls and imbibe the rolls in mashed potatoes, which have been seasoned with salt and pepper, forming a larger roll of each. Roll in egg and bread crumbs and fry in pan containing about one tablespoon hot fat.

Cheese and Macaroni Loaf.

One-half cup grated cheese; one-half cup uncooked macaroni, broken into small pieces; one level teaspoon salt; one cup milk; one cup soft bread crumbs; one tablespoon chopped green pepper; one table-spoon liquid fat; and one level teaspoon each chopped onion and parsley. Boil the macaroni in salted water until tender and then rinse in cold water. Cook the parsley, onion and pepper in a little water with the fat, allowing the water to boil away. Beat whites and yolks of eggs separately and mix all the ingredients. Cook the mixture in the butter and oil, setting pan in basin of hot water in oven.

Cheese and Nut Roast.

One cupful grated cheese; one cupful bread crumbs; one cupful chopped English walnuts; two table-spoons chopped onions; one table-spoon melted butter; juice of one-half lemon; salt and pepper to taste. Cook the onion in the butter and a little water until tender. Mix the other ingredients and moisten with the water in which the onion was cooked. Bake in shallow dish in moderate oven about half an hour, or until brown.

Cheese Fondue.

Mix one cupful hot milk, one table-spoon butter, one-half teaspoon salt; one cupful bread crumbs and one cupful grated cheese thoroughly. Add the beaten yolks of three eggs and stir well. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites and pour into greased baking dish. Bake in moderate oven for 30 minutes.

Cottage Cheese Omelet.

Two eggs; one table-spoon chopped pimientos; three rounded table-spoons cottage cheese; two table-spoons milk; one-fourth teaspoon salt and one-eighth teaspoon soda. Beat the whites and yolks of the eggs separately. Add to the yolks the milk and the milk and the cheese with which have been blended the pimientos, then fold in the stiffly-beaten whites. Pour into a hot frying pan in which has been melted about one-half teaspoon fat. Cook slowly until the egg has set and then place in oven to finish cooking. Fold over in center, garnish with parsley and serve. If desired chopped parsley, green pepper or minced ham may be substituted for the pimiento seasoning.

FLOWERS KEEP FRESH.

If you add a few thin pieces of white or any mild soap to the water before putting flowers into it, they will keep fresh for a week or two.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

A Comfortable Nap Is Rudely Broken.

Dangers come when least expected; 'Tis often near when least suspected.

PETER RABBIT and Timid Little Mrs. Peter were comfortably snuggled side by side in the bramble-tangle on the edge of the Green Forest. Jolly, round, bright Mr. Sun had climbed quite high up in the blue, blue sky, and Peter and Mrs. Peter had no intention of moving until he should once more go to bed behind the Purple Hills. Timid little Mrs. Peter wished they were back in the dear old Briar-patch, but as long as they were not, the old bramble-tangle was the next best place.

Peter often had spent a day there, so he felt very much at home. Having been out all night, he was sleepy and they had hardly settled themselves in comfort before his eyes closed drowsily and he was asleep. Timid little Mrs. Peter was too nervous to go to sleep at once. In fact, she felt that she couldn't go to sleep at all. But after a while she grew less nervous. It was very still over there. There wasn't a sound. The Jolly little Sunbeams crept into the old bramble-tangle and warmed little Mrs. Peter. Presently she began to blink. Then, without meaning to at all, she slipped off into dreamland.

Reddy Fox and Mrs. Reddy approached the old bramble-tangle with the greatest care. They reached the edge of it and peered in. Then each looked at the other and grinned. Reddy licked his chops. Mrs. Reddy licked her chops. Then both grinned again. There, in the middle of the old bramble-tangle, were two little brown forms, and one look was enough to tell Reddy and Mrs. Reddy that those two rabbits were fast asleep.

Mrs. Reddy waited only long enough for another good look before starting around for the other side of the old bramble-tangle. Reddy waited until she had time to get also hidden there, then very slowly and carefully began to crawl into the old bramble-tangle toward Peter and Mrs. Peter. He went slowly and carefully for two reasons. In the first place he didn't want to wake Peter and Mrs. Peter. In the second place he wanted to avoid scratching his face and tearing his coat on those clutching old brambles. So he tried to make himself as small as possible, and crawled on his stomach.

THE HOUSEWIFE'S SCRAPBOOK.

A HOUSEKEEPER famous for her good dinners says she serves the cheaper cuts of meat not only to reduce expenses, but because her family prefers the dishes made from them to the more expensive steaks and roasts. She says the secret of success in the cheaper cuts is long, slow cooking. For anything other than a stew she sears the meat over a very hot fire, then reduces the heat and lets the meat cook long and slowly. She makes delicious beef cutlets from flank steak. She cuts this in strips and folds them with toothpicks. She sears them in a hot roasting pan, then adds water and gravy and bakes them for an hour in the oven.

Canned lima beans are delicious, but the thrifty housewife knows that the dried limas are just as nutritious and quite as palatable for soup and other purposes, so she substitutes these and saves considerably on table expenses.

If you are storing pumpkins or squashes, do not keep them on the cellar floor. Put them on a shelf and leave space between them so they do not touch each other. Occasionally dry the vegetables with a cloth.

It is said a pinch of baking powder added to the water when washing fowl improves the flavor and makes them more tender. One cook flavors fowl by rubbing well with salt and pepper mixed with ginger.

Puncture holes in the cover of a tin can and on sweeping days use it to sprinkle common salt over the rugs and carpets. It will keep the dust from rising and brighten the carpet. It is also a preventive against moths.

CARPET SWEEPER CARE. Clean carpet sweeper often. Empty the box on damp newspaper; use old scissors, button hook or coarse comb to remove hairs and dirt. Keep the bearings oiled.

not to show themselves on the balcony, nor to open their doors except when they heard my voice. Then I made off toward the Church of Pokrovsk, the largest in Odessa, except the cathedral, and entered the priest's residence.

I rang the first door bell I came to. Within me I breathed a prayer that the fates be kind. The door, which bore on its plate the name of the Rev. P. A. M. Scharavsky, was opened and I was taken into a small salon, tastefully arranged, and the various musical instruments lying about.

These instruments gave me good

"I shall consult the Prince," said I. "By the way, how have you spent the day?" he inquired casually.

I was able to tell him with a gladness that satisfied him.

Next morning I went out in search of a church and a priest to officiate. But I lost the entire morning in biting my nails on street corners. To confide in a strange priest seemed like folly. Perhaps I had a forlorn hope of meeting some friend to put me on the right track, but no such friend appeared from heaven. I returned to the hotel, therefore, with nothing accomplished, and to face, at once, the question whether we should accept the Austrians' offer of a trip to "all the points of interest." It was decided to accept, for, as I remarked to the Prince:

"They will think it strange that you should come to Odessa to cloister yourself in a hotel."

So that afternoon we drove, visiting among other places the scene of a recent great explosion of munitions. I don't recall that any of us was greatly interested in view of what lay ahead, but we tried to appear charmed, and I doubt not the Prince and Mrs. Lambrino did appear so, much as their simple delight in being together.

But we went back to the hotel early. I conducted the Prince and Mrs. Lambrino to their rooms and cautioned them, as I did continually,

But the bushes and the brambles grew very close together and though Reddy did his best not to make a sound, he couldn't help snapping a twig. Instantly two pairs of eyes flew wide open. Two pairs of long ears stood straight up. Two wobbly little noses began to sniff the air suspiciously. Reddy stopped instantly and kept perfectly still. He actually held his breath.

But Peter and Mrs. Peter could not help seeing that red coat, and their wobbly little noses were filled place.

They reached the edge of it and peered in. Then each looked at the other and grinned.

with the strong scent of fox. It was a terribly raw awakening, but Peter didn't lose his head. He knew that at best Reddy could only crawl through that tangle while he and little Mrs. Peter could run freely along the little paths that he had cut out through the brambles. Peter at once let the way with little Mrs. Peter right at his heels. They went only a little way before Peter stopped. "Let's wait and see what he is going to do," whispered Peter to Mrs. Peter. "I don't believe he'll try to get in any further. He saw us there asleep and thought he could surprise us, but now that we are awake he knows it would be useless to try and catch us."

Peter fully expected to see Reddy Fox back out. Instead of that, Reddy began to crawl in and now he made no attempt to be quiet. He just forced his way in as best he could, whining a little as the brambles clutched at him and scratched him. Little Mrs. Peter was in a panic. As for Peter, he suddenly became very thoughtful. He knew that Reddy couldn't hope to catch them in there. There was only one thing he could have in mind, and that was to drive them out.

The Runaway Prince Who Loved and Married "Zizi"

(The three travelers are well treated by the Austrian authorities and are guests of the General's adjutant. At Odessa the Prince suddenly tells Henri Reiss, the narrator, that he must try to arrange for his marriage the following day.)

CHAPTER VII (Continued).

THE Adjutant became much interested, and asked me all about my fiancée. I told him—which was true—that she was the daughter of a prominent financier of Moscow, and that she awaited me at Odessa, in the Crimea.

I was satisfied my new "friend" would tell this to his chiefs, and I would not be to our disadvantage. And in the days that followed his attitude certainly helped.

At the station of Ragdelsnalc the Adjutant left the carriage to stroll on the platform. Suddenly Prince Carol, who was gazing out of the window, called to me excitedly and pointed out in the crowd the cursed figure who had caused all our trouble.

In a moment I was out of the carriage, elbowing through the crowds, and caught the fellow in a restaurant. Unhappily, I went up and said, "The devil take you for mixing yourself up in business that doesn't concern you."

He was most humble and conciliatory, said he had been so surprised to see the Prince he cried out unthinkingly. He said he would die for the Prince, if he would forgive him—and much more.

"Let me warn you," said I, "not to speak of this matter; nor to mention the Prince's name to anyone. Or one day we may meet on Rumanian soil."

With that I returned to the train, and we journeyed on to Odessa. We were fairly gay. We ate what we left of our provisions, discovering with laughter that a certain bottle of spirits had broken and deliciously flavored the cake. And after dinner, on this last strange period of mere or less interrupted journey, we slept until a few minutes before our arrival. We were met by an officer from the kommandatur, who brought instructions for the Adjutant. And soon we started off for the hotel that was to be our home for an indefinite time.

In this hotel the Prince and I occupied a large room. Mrs. Jeanne, a smaller one on the same floor and an Adjutant a third next to ours, so that he could easily supervise our movements. He had been assigned several detectives to assist in this pleasant task.

CHAPTER VIII.

NOW, while the idea of this marriage was naturally no longer a difficulty to attend to; I had supposed the day still far off. I had supposed it was not to be celebrated until we had reached France, or at least had taken steps to make the marriage in some degree acceptable to Rumania. But here was an imperious will and an ardent lover. The marriage must be tomorrow!

Of course it was quite impossible for the ceremony to take place so soon. The red tape of the law and the church could not begin to unwind itself in that time. But, further, a marriage at this time and under the circumstances, was against all my convictions and hopes. I told both the Prince and Mrs. Jeanne that no good would result from this haste.

"The day will come when you will both curse me for all this," I told them. "And so far as my own position is concerned, I am making my return to Rumania impossible."

I really feared to have a hand in this project of an immediate marriage. But in the end I was forced to consent. Both the Prince and Mrs. Lambrino had their minds thoroughly made up. And they had this argument on their side. That there was no telling how the German authorities, who must have been informed almost at once of the Prince's arrival in Odessa, would view the matter. If they should consider our escapade had a political motive, if they should suspect that part of our plan was to reach the French front, there was no guessing what might follow.

No, it was necessary to take the plunge and, as I said, I promised immediately upon the morrow to start steps for the celebration of the marriage. This settled, Mrs. Jeanne, who was much exhausted, bade us good night and went to her room, while I, after a drowsy "bonne nuit" to the Prince, blew out the candle upon what had been one of the most exciting days of my life.

The next day was not unlike it, full of perplexities and anxieties. I had not quite finished dressing when the Prince awoke. He was voluble with renewed instructions, and as he dressed he kept repeating warnings to be alert and not to let myself be caught.

"Spare no money," he told me over and over, "omit no means to complete the affair by night!"

About 9 o'clock I left the hotel, not without almost falling over the vigilant adjutant in the hall. He kindly offered his help in whatever errand I had.

"Thank you," I said. "I am merely going to the Catholic Church to find out how to arrange matters for my marriage."

With that I hailed a carriage, and gave the driver the address of a Russian Prince, a friend of mine, who I hoped was in Odessa, and might help me both with the language and the customs. But he was out of town. More bad luck!

So I drove on toward the Catholic Church (I am of that faith), having as I went the dubious pleasure of seeing another carriage following at a respectful distance. I knew then that the Austrian kommandatur was having me shadowed. I gritted my teeth and determined upon redoubled caution.

Arriving at the church I found a very amiable padre, to whom I explained my alleged errand: To learn all the formalities I must go through with before my marriage. This was really a "blind," as I had no thought of arranging the marriage at this church and merely wanted to confirm in the minds of our shadowers that it was my own marriage that was concerned. So immediately upon leaving I had myself driven to the nearest orthodox church, where I made an appointment to see one of the priests that afternoon.

He was an elderly and imposing churchman and very kind, but over-talkative.

I explained to him in his turn that I wished to get married, and all the rest. He hastened to make out a list of the formalities under his religion, and then proceeded to offer me tea. I could not well refuse, and there we sat discussing the condition into which Russia had been plunged, the future of Bessarabia and like topics, while at the hotel I knew Prince Carol was boiling with impatience for me to return.

The good priest talked on and on, while I, to play my part, must not seem too much hurried.

Finally, about 6 p. m., I managed to escape, and returned to the hotel, where, sure enough, I found the Prince and Zizi almost unmoved by my long absence.

"Tomorrow," I said, "I can conclude everything. I know the whole procedure."

TO A WINTER MOSQUITO.

You came to us in lovely June,
And though we did not greatly care
About the little treble tune
You murmured to the listening air,
And though we shuddered when you lit
And bared your fangs to treat us rough,
We sought to make the best of it,
Said we, "It's June, and that's enough.
It's June, and though mosquitoes sting,
One cannot hope for everything."

And as the summer waned and waned
And still you wheedled your droning flight,
We never murmured or complained Although you didn't treat us right.
"It's the summer time," said we,
"The time of flowers and fruit,
And well we know that there must be A little rift in every lute.
And though you may disturb our rest,
Still, everything is for the best."

But when the blizzard whistles shrill,
When snow lies heavy on the ground,
When we are cold and numb, and still,
You have the nerve to stick around.
When, hovering above our bed
As you are doing every night,
You whisk the covers from our head
That you may land your brutal bite,
We warn you sternly to beware,
For you are hardly playing fair.
